The Stockroom

In direct contrast to the beauty of a well curated exhibition where sculptures are placed with great care and consideration for maximum visual impact, our stockrooms have a random and chaotic excitement to them. Sculptures lurking in a corner, in packing crates and bubble wrap, with labels carefully fastened sometimes peeping out at you, hidden by a larger form.

Whatever it is, it never fails to trigger wonderment in those who go behind the scenes. We wanted you to share in it; in the excitement of discovering a hidden gem or forgotten masterpiece by bringing the stores out of their shadowy world and expose them for all to see.

Don't look for a theme or concept to unite such a disparate collection; there is no story to connect the different objects on these shelves. The only link between the artists and sculptures is that in one way or another they are a part of Gallery Pangolin. Over our 40 year history, we are proud to have maintained profound relationships, several enduring all four decades, indeed we still work with the families and estates of many of our collaborators, sculptor friends and clients who have been with us from the start.

This is an exhibition that will reconnect old friendships, recall previous exhibitions and wonder at the creative imaginations behind the creation of the object; a veritable and huge cabinet of curiosities.

We hope you will enjoy browsing around this vibrant range of works, just as we do searching for pieces for a more formal presentation.
